

Message from the CEO

"The new Closing the Gap Agreement focuses on shared partnership in decision making and health service delivery to improve outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. We need these partnerships across all national and state levels of Government, through to local Communities. The AH&MRC looks forward to working with our Member Services and industry partners to achieve the targets that have been put forward under the new Agreement. As the peak body in NSW for Aboriginal Medical Services, we want to strengthen our vital workforce and provide the support and funding necessary for services to deliver on the key areas of health reform. We look forward to working together to create brighter, healthier futures for Aboriginal people."

- Robert Skeen, AH&MRC CEO.

Applications for funding Youth Project

Applications for funding from the Youth Opportunities Program are now open! The Youth Opportunities Program provides one-off, timelimited grants between $10k and $50k to nonNSW. In 2006, Rod set sail on a windsurfing adventure down the Murray River. Visiting the River, a week or so each year, he has ridden more than 1,800 kilometres and raised more than $26,000 for the Aboriginal Community-Controlled Health sector. The adventure started when Rod received a call from a friend who made windsurfing boards. Read more.

Immunity 4 Community Winner - Siena

"Hello, my name is Siena Bhuiyan and my tribe is the Anaiwan tribe, but I live on the lands of the Dharawal people. My inspiration for this artwork is the Aboriginal nurses and the winter season. Our Aboriginal nurses play a very important role when it comes to Aboriginal health issues. They are the friendly faces that remind us of all our mothers who look after our wellbeing from the very moment we are created. The winter season is here now, and we all need to be careful especially now with COVID 19." Siena Bhuiyan. To view the winning posters and artist stories click here.

Ethics Committee Bio - Uncle Danny Jeffries

Uncle Danny Jeffries is a Muruwari man, born and raised in Brewarrina, New South Wales. Uncle Danny is an Aboriginal Representative on the AH&MRC Human Research Ethics Committee (HREC), a position he has held since 2009. Uncle Danny is primarily interested in the provision of services that support children and others in need of support and assistance. Uncle Danny provides cultural and service delivery guidance on applications relating to alcohol and other drugs through his role on the HREC. Read more
